2011 IRS Mileage Rate creeps up 2% from 2010 Level

The 2011 IRS mileage rate for business mileage is 51 cents; find more, including rates for medical/moving and charitable miles at:

<http://www.irs.gov/newsroom/article/0,,id=232017,00.html>

The IRS Business Mileage Rate for 2010 was 50 cents. The standard rate for 2009 was 55 cents, a full 5 cents higher. According to the IRS, the reduced 2010 rate reflects generally lower transportation costs compared to 2009.

The business mileage reimbursement rate is used to calculate the deductible costs of operating a car (also vans, panel or pickup trucks) for business. The IRS releases a new federal mileage rate at least once a year; they use an independent contractor to determine a standard mileage rate based on costs associated with operating a vehicle. The standard mileage allowance is provided as an option for deducting costs associated with vehicle operation. Visit www.irs.gov for more details on rules surrounding the IRS mileage rate.
